

Senate Resolution 154

By: Senators Mullis of the 53rd, Whitehead, Sr. of the 24th, Hill of the 32nd and Douglas of the 17th

ADOPTED SENATEA RESOLUTION

- 1 Creating the Joint Human Services Transportation Study Commission; to provide for the 2 membership, powers, duties, and mission of the commission; to provide for related matters;
3 and for other purposes.
- 4 WHEREAS, there are 103 rural transit systems and 15 urban transit systems in Georgia that 5 provide critical transportation services to the public; and
- 6 WHEREAS, local governments and at least four state agencies have a role in health and 7 social services transportation, including transit, service delivery; and
- 8 WHEREAS, riders in these programs may be transported for such purposes as accessing 9 medical appointments, senior centers, community mental health centers, job training 10 activities, or for general transportation purposes; and
- 11 WHEREAS, the Georgia Departments of Community Health, Human Resources, Labor, and 12 Transportation received nearly $200 million per year in federal grants to transport individuals 13 who have no other means of accessing services; and
- 14 WHEREAS, the state human services transportation programs frequently contain varying 15 criteria for their operations and differing classifications of riders, both established by the 16 federal agency providing the federal funds, and these differences lead to cost inefficiencies 17 and added pressure on local governments and other service providers; and
- 18 WHEREAS, coordination among these agencies is primarily on an ad hoc basis; and
- 19 WHEREAS, there may be more cost efficient ways for state and local governments to 20 provide these transportation services such as sharing federal funding, vehicles, and facilities, 21 coordination in the acquisition and maintenance of vehicles, and sharing in the use of trip 22 planning technologies; and

1 WHEREAS, in recent years, certain events, including the occurrence of Hurricane Katrina, 2 have led to the rapidly escalating cost of motor fuel and increased the financial burden on 3 local governments and other service providers participating in the various human services 4 transportation programs, and local governments and other service providers participating in 5 the various human services transportation programs have received no increase in funding 6 since 2001 to offset these fuel costs; and

7 WHEREAS, Hurricane Katrina and other disasters have pointed to the acute need for state 8 and local governments to have a highly coordinated and efficient human services 9 transportation delivery infrastructure to quickly evacuate persons affected by these disasters 10 and assist them in accessing health and social services; and

11 WHEREAS, consumers of human services transportation services are increasingly becoming 12 public passengers of transit systems, placing additional pressure on public transit systems in 13 both rural and urban areas; and

14 WHEREAS, it may be beneficial for this state to institute a more centralized, coordinated 15 approach such as a state human services transportation coordinating council with 16 membership from state agencies and representatives of local governments, regional entities, 17 and other service providers; and

18 WHEREAS, in light of the high costs of and demand for providing transportation service to 19 older Georgians, residents in rural, suburban, and urban Georgia, and persons with physical, 20 developmental, and mental disabilities, every possible avenue to achieve cost effectiveness 21 should be explored.
